

2nd Everything Christmas Sale by Friends of Union County Library (FOUCL)

FOUCL Members Helen and Robert Harford with Some Sale Santas

We have added Thursday hours to our Everything Christmas sale so those of you who are in Blairsville for fun on the Square can easily add us to your list of stops. FOUCL members will be busy assisting and checking out all the merry shoppers who love a Christmas bargain beginning on Thursday, October 31, from 3:00 PM until 6:30 PM; continuing Friday, November 1, from 9 AM until 3 PM; and Saturday, November 2, from 10 AM to 1 PM. Come find us in the Community Room at Union County Public Library, 303 Hunt-Martin St.

Maybe you say “Bah, Humbug!” to a Christmas sale in early November; but we aren’t suggesting you put decorations up at your house yet. Just think about what you might like to add this year, when the time is right. Do you want some new ornaments or a few hostess gifts? Perhaps you’d like a new wreath for your door or a stocking to hang? How about one of the adorable Santas in this photo? Come see what we have and stash those treasures away until December.

As an added incentive, the shopping you do at this FOUCL fundraiser benefits Union County Public Library, which is part of the Mountain Regional Library System and PINES (Public Information Network for Electronic Services). PINES is Georgia’s “borderless library” system that allows PINES card holders free access to books and other materials in 300 library branches and affiliated service locations throughout the state. Whether you prefer books off our local library’s shelves, books from another Georgia library, ebooks, or audiobooks, there is something for everyone. The Library: Visit it. Use it. Support it.
