

Friends of Union County Library (FOUCL) Host Fossils Program with Jayne Brechbill

We are rockin' at the library! The FOUCL-Sponsored Adult Summer Reading Program Finale features Jayne Brechbill, fondly known as "The Fossil Lady." Join us Thursday, August 23, at 4:00 PM in the Community Room at the Union County Public Library, 303 Hunt Martin Street, Blairsville, for this free hour-long hands-on program.

Jayne is a knowledgeable former science teacher who received her Masters' degree from the University of Central Florida. In retirement, she is a member of the Education Committee at the Georgia Mountain Research and Education Center in Blairsville, Georgia and many of the children in Blairsville have met her through one of her many presentations in our schools and at the Research Center. She will bring her vast collection of fossils for us to touch and study as she explains their origin and history. She will also allow us to admire some of the beautiful jewelry she has had made from her geologic treasures.

FOUCL is pleased that the 2018 Adult Summer Reading Program has generated so much interest. Thursday, August 23, is the last day for the almost 100 participants to turn in completed reading logs to be eligible for prizes. Lucky winners will be notified by mail the week of August 27. We thank the following businesses whose generous donations make this drawing possible: Alexander's Store Inc., Chick-fil-A, Home Depot, Huddle House, Pat's Hallmark Shop, and Sunflowers Antiques and Interiors. Additional prizes include certificates redeemable for books from Union County Public Library's Bookstore.

Whether you participated in the summer read or not, whether you have reading logs to turn in or not, please join us for this special program. It is geared toward adults, but all ages are welcome. Light refreshments will be provided.
